My Electronic Portfolio

Date Created: Sep 15, 2004, 09:42 PM

Welcome to my BlogWave for .Mac e-portfolio. I am exploring the capabilities of using BlogWave Studio to maintain electronic portfolios as part of my research on implementation of online electronic portfolio systems.

Click on one of the links in the left side to see the pages that I have decided to include in this version of my portfolio. You can read my biography, see the artifacts that I have identified as my best work, and read my reflections about creating this portfolio.

If you follow a link and want to return, use the Back button on your browser.

Every portfolio has a purpose. My purpose for developing this portfolio is to show my skills in developing an electronic portfolio using any number of tools. After reviewing all of my artifacts (see my Portfolio at a Glance) I found five general categories of competencies:

- Electronic Portfolio Competency - Knowledge, Skills and Experience

This is my collection of artifacts that are selected to demonstrate specific competencies in portfolio development knowledge and skills. I have been researching, presenting and writing about electronic portfolios since 1991. This collection shows the growth in my thinking about electronic portfolio development between 1991 and 2004.

My Website on Electronic Portfolios

This is my web site on electronic portfolios in education. I started working on this website in 1995, on the server that I set up for the University of Alaska Anchorage School of Education. I bought my own domain names in 2000, and have been updating it ever since. You might say that this web site contains the archive of my professional work in electronic portfolio development since my research started in 1991. I actually have three URLs that point to this same page: <http://electronicportfolios.com>, <http://electronicportfolios.org>, <http://helenbarrett.com>

My 'Blogger' blog

I started to experiment with blogs in the spring of 2004. Within a couple of months, this blog has been highlighted on several lists of recommended educational blogs. I have enjoyed writing in this blog, to use it as a way to explore my own thoughts and reflections on my experiences. As a result of writing in this blog, I am experimenting with other tools, as well, to see how various blogging software would work to construct e-portfolios.
